

Honiara, 11 July 2012 12:28:29 ▶ Youth Speak! on Heritage at Pacific Arts Festival

Solomon Times Online

Web and Solomon Time

Home

Latest News

Letters to the Editor

Newsletter

Archive

Jobs New!

News by Category

▶ Politics

▶ Economy

▶ Business

▶ Sports

▶ Regional

▶ Entertainment

Exclusives

Investment Division

Tuesday, December 16, 2008 8:02 AM

Smith Plans Injunction Against Sky Airworld Plans

Australian businessmen John Smith plans to put an injunction to a plan by Sky Airworld to develop Anuha Island, Central Province.

Speaking from Brisbane, Mr. Smith informs the national broadcaster, SIBC, that he's given the Sky Airworld time to sit with him and discuss the development before taking any further action.

He says he will not hesitate to take up a court injunction in Brisbane, Australia, if the airline failed to consult him.

Mr. Smith says he had held exploratory discussions with his lawyers on the issue.

He maintains that he holds the power of attorney over Anuha island in Central province which the government had approved for Sky Airworld to develop.

Related articles:

What Cannibals?
Small Tourism Operators Get Web Presence
Magnificent Military History in the Solomons
Aussies Dominate Tourist Arrivals
Marovo; Amazon of the Ocean
Solomon Airlines Gets CASA Approval
show all

In the same category:

University Officially Operated in 2013
Gender Symposium Concludes
Bridges and Roads Receives Facelift
Accommodation Opens for Medical Students
Axiom Expands to Makira
Australia's Commitment Reaffirmed
show all